Statement on possible delays in the order fulfillment for standard aluminum heads

The effects of the COVID-19 pandemic have an impact on our supply chain, which has led to disruptions that may cause delays in order fulfillment in the near future. In our case, this only applies to suppliers who are responsible for delivering to us aluminum castings from which we make our heads. At present, the situation is stabilizing - overdue deliveries of these production components are carried out on an ongoing basis. Our Procurement and Logistics Department finalizes talks with new partners, so that our network of suppliers in this area is as wide as possible - such diversification will ensure a stable supply chain and help us avoid a similar situation in the future.

However, we are convinced that thanks to our production capabilities and efficient logistics, we will meet these challenges, trying to keep deliveries on time. We work closely together to identify any potential consequences or delays with our suppliers and we constantly monitor the capabilities of our partners supplying production components. We maintain operational continuity in terms of production, ensuring the highest standards of service, and about any changes and any delays, we will keep you informed. We count on your understanding and apologize for any inconvenience.

Yours faithfully

Limatherm Components Team
